Stewardship Quote

Jesus tells the crowd that only those who renounce all of their possessions can be His disciples. Is He truly asking us to give up everything? Perhaps instead He is trying to help us see that everything we think we own is really a gift from God. Good stewards know that and strive to use those gifts accountably.

Pope's Intentions for September

Universal: Centrality of the Human Person

That each may contribute to the common good and to the building of a society that places the human person at the center.

Evangelization: Mission to Evangelize

That by participating in the Sacraments and meditating on Scripture, Christians may become more aware of their mission to evangelize.

Read about these stories in the September 4 Witness

- ◆ An article explores Catholic single life - explaining the difference between the difference between being single and open to another vocation and being a "dedicated" single, which is a vocation in itself. Archbishop Jackels has also written a column on the single life to accompany this story.
- ◆ With schools back in session and faith formation programs in full swing, Dave Cushing offers his first installment of this year's Disciple's Corner column
- ◆ Deacon Paul Peckosh recently lived out the work of mercy of 'Burying the Dead' when he placed the names of his great-grandparents on their headstone in Oxford Junction. The deacon tells the story of his family's immigration from what is now the Czech Republic and how the grave remained unmarked with their names for generations until he recently noticed the situation and took action.
